Naturally sourced (no synthetics no modifications) – Turkish Cotton is a natural fiber & with the use of organic pigment dyes makes Ozel products baby friendly, even for the most sensitive skin.

Turkish towels are traditionally known as a Peshtemal. They have existed for centuries, a fact which endorses the amazing qualities of this high-grade cotton. Primarily used as a cover up in a Turkish bath house (more commonly referred to as a Hammam). This ancient ritual has many health benefits primarily cleanliness, relaxation & detoxification which enables a clearer mind & positive energy.

Our cotton is grown locally grown in Adana & Mugla which is surrounded by the borders of the Aegean & Mediterranean Sea

Ozel textiles are traditionally woven on a hand loom then individually hand-tied with love in the small villages of Turkey, supporting local workers & families for generations.

The hand loomed craftsmanship ensures each piece will last the test of time & unlike most towels, they get better with age. They become softer after each wash, absorbent, lightweight & quick dry. With a simple yet aesthetically pleasing design, why not layer yourself in a little luxury.
